We were high performing - how?

- There was room for people to grow
- We set clear shared expectations
- We recognised a team is greater than the sum of its parts
- The team was hard to join
- It was diverse
- We measured health regularly and course corrected

Set Clear Shared Expectations - Team Charters

3 steps to setting the rules of the game

Step 1

Collaborate

- Make it together

Step 2

Make making it fun

- A reversal workshop for example

Step 3

Share and iterate

- Make it visible
- Revisit it as the team grows

We make progress and get stuff done

Where there is a defined process then we follow it

We are empowered to question the status quo

We respect each other's opinions

We turn up on time

We take ownership for quality

Be nice and talk to each other

We are aware of the bigger picture

Making Hiring and Joining Great

3 steps to new people

Step 1

Spread the net wide

- Don't discriminate
- Use the team
- Raise your brand first

Step 2

Realise that you are selling your team

- Shout about how good your team is
- Talk about company culture

Step 3

Make joining easy and delightful

- The onboarding board
- Cross team onboarding buddies
- Charters

The screenshot shows a Slack channel named 'Tech New Starter Board'. The board is organized into three columns:

- Column 1: How To Use This Board
 - Logo for BLOOM & WILD
 - Text: 'This board is your one-stop shop to learn more about Bloom & Wild and to keep track of what you've covered' (1 item)
 - Section: 'How To Use This Board' (1 item)
 - + Add another card
- Column 2: Cheat Sheet
 - About You (0/4)
 - Your Mentor: Name
 - Your Manager: Name
 - Your Team: Team Name (0/4)
 - Your Role
 - The Technology Team (0/8)
 - The Product Team
 - The Wiki
 - Developer Guidelines
 - People and HR Stuff
 - Your CD buddy: Name
 - Your Cross-team buddy: Name
 - + Add another card
- Column 3: Things To Do
 - Laptop Setup (0/9)
 - Teams Tour
 - Setup your personal README and link into your slack profile
 - Your First Few Days (0/3)
 - Your First Two Weeks (0/5)
 - Your First Month (0/4)
 - Your Second Month (0/1)
 - Your Third Month and End Of Probation (0/4)
 - Your Day on Zendesk

Make Your Own Technology Choices

We Greenfield

Step 1

No Technical or Organisational Debt

- A totally fresh start
- A totally fresh team

Step 2

Developer Agency

- Tool, framework and language choice
- Processes
- Helps hiring and retention

Step 3

Support a Golden Path

- One supported direction
- You choose if you follow it
- Teams own production

Shared Learning Helps Your Team and Others

3 steps to learning

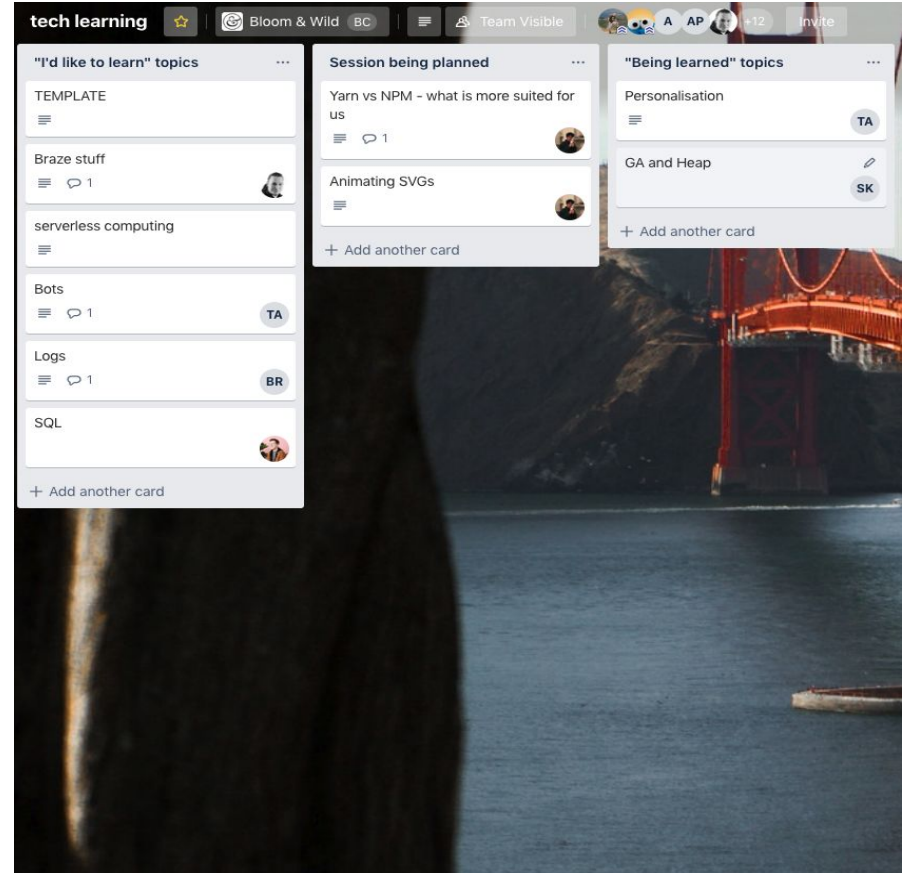

Step 1
Share what you want to learn

Step 2
Provide a space to learn

- Tech & Share
- Tech book club
- Non enforced pairing

Step 3
Encourage teaching of what you've learnt

- Tech & Share
- Communities of Practice
- Meetups and conferences

Healthchecks

3 steps to better team health

Step 1

Ask how things are

- An adapted version of the spotify model
- Be clear what it is and isn't

Step 2

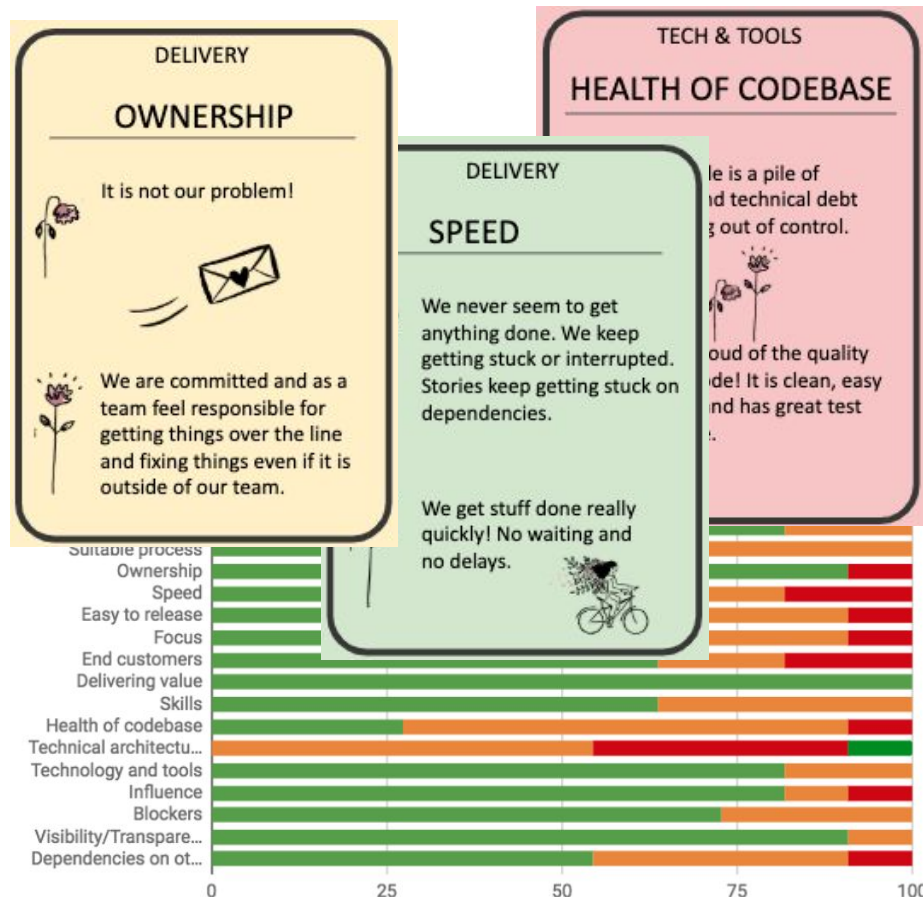

Work out what's important

- We use top two, bottom two, middle one

Step 3

Actually get some actions

- Defining actions is a team thing
- Actually do the actions...
- Use them everywhere

@stephenjanaway

A Typical Review Timeline

What happens here? | What's the impact?

@stephenjanaway

A Typical Review Timeline

- Objectives and goals get forgotten
- Lots of disruption for team members and managers
- Anxiety
- De-motivation
- Is a factor in people leaving

Feedback is better when it's timely

@stephenjanaway

121's are better when everyone
prepares for them

@stephenjanaway

What we did (with a lot of inspiration from Atlassian)

- Monthly, aligned, themed check-in sessions between team member and their manager
- Shorter term personal goals
- Team members tell us how they think they are doing before the session

Timely, bite sized, chunks of performance feedback

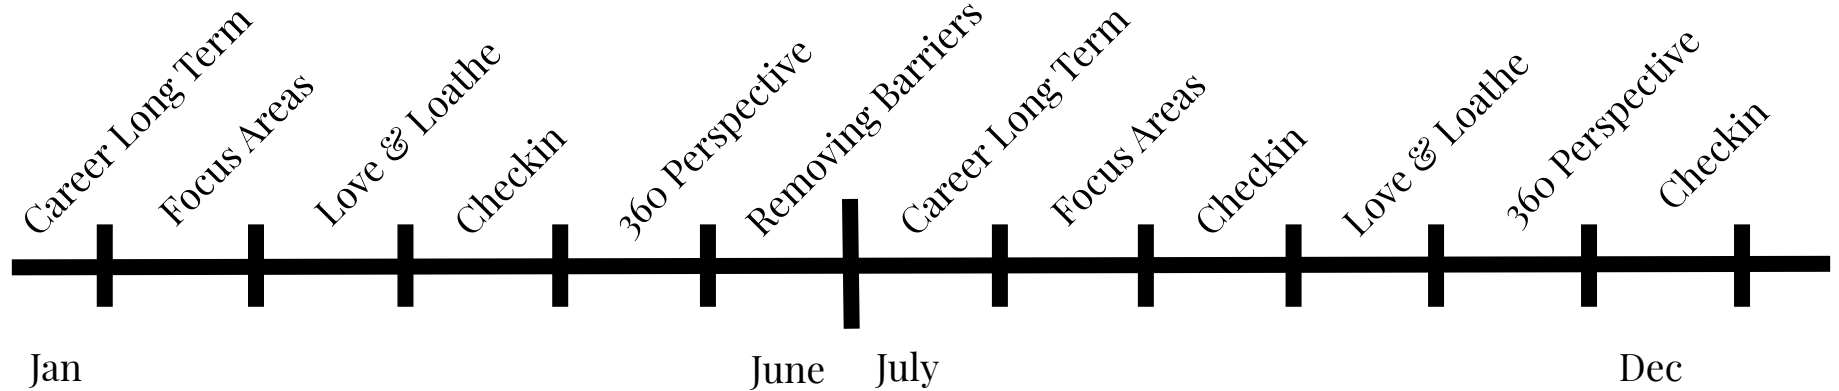

Questions

- “What barriers have you encountered to your work over the past few months?”
- “What have you loved over the past few months?”
- “Where do you want to head towards in your career? Has anything changed since the last session?”
- “What’s your feedback on the last month?”

Our Timeline

This can help engage your team

$$\text{Trust} = (\quad + \quad + \quad)$$

The Trust Equation: <https://trustedadvisor.com/articles/the-trust-equation-a-primer>

@stephenjanaway

Trust = (Credibility + Reliability + Intimacy)

Apparent Self-Interest

Trust = (+ +)

Trust = (Credibility + Reliability + Intimacy)

Apparent Self-Interest

Trust = (+ +)

Focus Out, Focus In

- Open up the API
- Open up the team
- Help others to discover and engage
- Align and don't ignore
- Engender trust not jealousy

Trust = (Credibility + Reliability + Intimacy)

Apparent Self-Interest

Build Credibility, Reliability and Intimacy

Reduce apparent self interest

Increase Trust

woohoo!

@stephenjanaway

And If All Else Fails

Keep Building
High Performing Teams
Anyway

- Don't give up
- Focus them inwards
- Ensure alignment yourself
- Find everyone an external network
- Leave

And so?

@stephenjanaway

If I Could Do This All Again...

“Keep Doing the Good Stuff”

- Building teams
- Measuring health
- Learning and adapting
- Hiring carefully

“Recognise Change”

- It won't last forever
- Be open
- Teams age
- Reboot them regularly

“Watch For the Signs”

- Frustration
- Ignorance
- Not invented here
- Other teams engagement

“Focus Out, Focus In”

- Open up both technology and teams
- Align don't ignore
- Trust not jealousy

“If All Else Fails, Do It Anyway”

- Don't give up
- Shift focus
- External networks
- Or elsewhere
